Twenty first Sunday in Ordinary Time

August 27th , 2023

Monstrance comes from the Latin word monstrare, meaning “to show.” The purpose of the monstrance is to put on display a consecrated Host for those present to adore and venerate. The development of the monstrance can be traced back to the 13th century, when Eucharistic processions rose in popularity connected to the new feast of Corpus Christi. The monstrance is meant to highlight and draw attention to the king of kings, Jesus Christ, present in a real and substantial way under the appearances of bread. This is why a monstrance is typically gold and ornamented in a special way, in recognition of the divine mystery it holds and reveals.

Childhood brings with it a steady stream of emotions. While we love to see our kids happy and thriving, sometimes their stresses and fears — no matter how unfounded or irrational they may seem — need to be addressed. As much as our words and actions as parents can help our children feel safe and teach them to cope, it's important for children to know that they can call on heavenly friends for help at any time day or night. Here we will share some of those Saints.

Here are some of the most common childhood woes— and the patron saint to invoke when the need arises. You can keep the prayer very simple so it's easy to remember, and as your child ages, you can encourage them to develop the prayer. Of course, if you wish you can also give them added protection by buying the medal of their preferred patron saint and having it blessed.

St. Francis of Assisi— Sick pets. When our animal companions are in need, reach out to the nature lover of Umbria who treated all animals as part of his brotherhood with creation.

To the family of Martha Taylor, aunt of Tony Powers.

Eternal rest grant unto them O Lord. And perpetual light shine upon them . May the soul of the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. Amen

From the Family of Gene Roberts;

Thank you, Fr. Suneesh , SVDP and Knights Of Columbus for the beautiful Funeral Service. Thank you, ladies and gentleman for the wonderful meal that was prepared for us during the death of our husband, father and grandfather. We appreciate all of you!

Anna Marie , Bridgett, Tim and Matthew.
